“We’re talking about building 2,500 homes over the course of the next five to eight years and with that we can bring 4,000 to 6,000 new residents to a city that only has 17,000,” Cheripka says. The same qualities that originally attracted iStar to the city as a lender in 2006, are still the ones that the company says drive its vision today.
